H.E. Hamed Al Amri, Under-secretary, Ministry of Manpower

The development of a world-class vocational skill and that of human resources development is a key priority for the government of His Majesty. The holding of Manpower Employment Seminars came as recognition that sustainable development requires high quality manpower and this paved the road for developing a complementary system of Vocational Training and Technical Education. It also helped in strengthening links and co-operation between the government and the private sector establishments in the field of manpower development and that of national manpower employment. In response to the recommendation adopted in the National Manpower Employment Seminars, leading private sector establishments have taken the initiative to increase Omanisation, some have established their own training centers to provide the necessary training for Omani youth so as to provide them with the type of technical and administrative skills that will facilitate and strengthen their abilities to fill vacancies available in these establishments. Among these is the United Finance Company where the Board of Directors considers training and the employment of nationals has a top priority. Since 2002 the company embarked upon a policy of increasing Omanisation. They provided job opportunities to Omani youth in a wide range of occupations at various administrative levels and skills. UFC's track record shows that Omanisation rate in the year 2007 reached 72%, this was achieved through the company's commitment and its keen interest to provide employment with on-the-job training to their Omani staff. The company sent an application to the Ministry of Manpower to establish its own training centre with a capacity of 74 trainees. The Ministry approved the establishment of the training centre, which will be starting training soon. The training provided contains theoretical as well as applied on-the-job training in the fields of accountancy, information technology, customer service, marketing and administration. Based on the above, UFC was awarded Green Card status, for its efforts in training and Omanisation. The Ministry of Manpower appreciates what UFC is doing with regard to training and that of Omanisation and do wish the company the best of success in all of its operation, its investment and its role in the field of human resource development.

United Finance Company does not function like what you say someone trying to sell a product. Of course when you are asking for finance they were the first finance company to visit our site. Mining is a very risky business, so if you do not understand to whom you are loaning the money to, it will be difficult to achieve finance or even give equipment.

Mr. Abdullah Hussein Jamal, Partner, Arabian Projects & Transport Co. I came to Oman 35 years ago. We are No. 4 company in Oman, working in contracting works.
